The Legend of the Lodz Ghetto Children

Published by Yad Vashem

Summary

This fascinating legend, with its beautiful illustrations, was written in the Lodz Ghetto in Poland during the war. In the guise of a playful fantasy, it vividly describes life in the ghetto where children labored in factories and workshops in the hope of escaping deportation to the death camps. Ultimately, the entire ghetto was liquidated, but the Legend remains to tell the story.

The unit contains:

- 17 color posters with illustrations from the album
- A teacher's manual, with historical background, the Legend, testimonies by ghetto survivors, articles and suggestions for class activities

Rescue: Traits that Transcend

Published by the Jewish Foundation for the Righteous

Summary

The posters provide educators with a visually appealing tool that they can use to teach about rescue while highlighting traits that young people can cultivate and bring to bear in their own lives. The eight traits are compassion, cooperation, courage, ingenuity, integrity, moral leadership, self-sacrifice, and social responsibility. The rescuers featured on the posters come from all walks of life and from a range of countries. Among them are several well-known rescuers but also individuals whose names and stories are less familiar.

The unit contains

- 8 color posters laminated and mounted on foam-core
- A teacher's guide that includes an overview of key issues to consider when teaching the subject of rescue, suggestions for using the posters in the classroom, and a list of relevant books, films, and websites
- Online access to sixteen one-page handouts, each of which tells the story of one of the rescuers. The handouts can be downloaded as PDFs from the website www.jfr.org/posters.
